A New Professional Development Opportunity Available at Your School

Tina Smith, Museum Educator, will present a 1.5 hour workshop to expose teachers to MOA’s collection, the new online Artifact Database, and possibilities for teacher and student use.

During the workshop, teachers will:
- Receive a technical user’s manual on how to navigate the database.
- Learn the terminology, specific to museums, to be able to search the database.
- Be shown step by step how to use the database.
- Have an opportunity to search the database.
- Learn how to teach their students to use the database.

Teachers will be given examples of:
- How the database can enhance lesson plans and classroom experiences.
- Projects that can be done by students.

Call 336.758.5282 or email moa@wfus.edu for more information or to schedule a workshop for your school.